The world hasn't much use for a "trimmer."

The women may exercise the right of suffrage today.

Every parent should take an interest in today's election.

Sometimes a man is best known by the enemies he makes.

The Salt River Valley will ship her first raisins this season.

The salaries of county officials are too high, and should be cut down.

The school election will take place today. It doesn't appear to be making much of a stir.

The Court and Mr. Behan and his attorneys didn't seem to agree on the effect of an appeal.

DeFew will be a formidable presidential candidate in 1892. If nominated he can easily be elected.

Ex-Senator Palmer of Michigan, will direct the affairs of the Columbian World's Fair. A good choice.

The silver question is not a political issue and so much the better. Let it be settled on its merits, without partisan complications.

The United States steamer Thetis will early in July go on a tour to make soundings for the proposed submarine cable to Honolulu.

At the present moment there are three English war ships off the Pacific coast, all bound for Esquimaux. What is the significance of all this?

The tin product of Dakota has thus far been wholly on paper. We would like to see some actual shipments from the Hahn Peak mines, so-called.

The insurance companies have been having a picnic in Phoenix. They have had immense premiums on safe risks, and a drop should be demanded.

The President yesterday gave his approval to the dependent pension bill, and the measure is now a law. The yell of the rebel brigadiers was in vain.

SENATOR EDMUNDS is still a stickler for the dignity of the Senate. He is opposed to the call of the previous question and stands for freedom of debate.

The San Francisco Chamber of Commerce is a Western curiosity. It is opposed to free coinage. No wonder San Francisco has lost much of her mountain trade.

The committee of Parisians sent to Panama estimate that it will cost $347,400,000 to complete the canal. This is in excess of the much ridiculed figures of the American engineers.

POTATOES and beans are largely imported into this Territory, and the fact is not creditable to the Salt River Valley. Not one pound of these products should be brought into Phoenix, at any rate.

THE WEEKLY REPUBLICAN is one of the most attractive newspapers in the Territory. It publishes a large amount of reading matter, and its list is rapidly growing. Send or call for a sample copy. Issued every Thursday.

The railroad companies report a falling off in immigration to California, this year, of nearly 60 per cent, but the California season is just opening. The fall business is usually very large and of this Arizona catches a large share.

DESPITE its bluster, the California Athletic Club did not go on with the LaBlanche fight, and Chief Crowley appears to be ruling the town, just now. This is as it ought to be, and Governor Waterman is entitled to the credit.

SAN FRANCISCO will show a population of about 300,000, which seems to us much under the true figures. The Chinese population is 24,000, an increase of 2000 over 1880, but this is unquestionably 10,000 short of the real Chinese population.

THE outlook for silver is not by any means as cheering as it was, though we are reasonably sure to get a $4,500,000 ounce per month coinage bill. That will be practically free coinage, as it will absorb about all the silver we are now producing.

THE closing argument before Judge Coffey, in the Blythe case, has ended, but the man who thinks that the Judge's decision will be the last of the case, doesn't know much concerning San Francisco attorneys. The decision in the probate case will be only the beginning of the end.

SAYS the Prescott Courier: "Steady, Arizona Republican! We believe you started against statehood, just to please the Governor. Now he has reeled and so have his sisters, and his cousins and his aunts of the organ." Not by any means. We were always for statehood.

MISINFORMED COLORADAN.

Louis Hullor, speculator and adventurer, has succeeded in getting himself again into the newspapers. This time by giving currency to the absurd proposition that if the United States wanted Lower California, the way to secure it would be by ceding to Mexico a strip of land bounded on the north by a straight line passing from El Paso, Texas, to Yuma, Arizona. This would return to Mexico a large part, if not all, of the territory acquired by the "Gadsden Purchase." It was scarcely necessary for the Mexican Government to send out word that Hullor's talk had no significance, and that the story is preposterous.

The Gadsden Purchase was one of the most profitable the Government ever made, yet a paper generally so well informed as the Denver Republican makes this flippant comment on Hullor's proposition: "If Lower California is the more preferable of the two there would be no particular objection to ceding to Mexico the district mentioned by Mr. Hullor. Neither that tract of land nor Lower California is of much value. But we do not see why the Government of Mexico should be willing to give up Lower California." THE REPUBLICAN may not have heard of the Salt River, the Santa Cruz, the San Pedro, the Gila and other valleys fertile beyond comparison, well watered and in which can be raised all the tropical and semi-tropical fruits, all of which are within the Gadsden Purchase, but it should have heard of the great mines at Tombstone, at Bisbee, at Mammoth and on the Colorado, not to speak of dozens of properties that have never been advertised, but that would be considered bonanzas even in so richly mineralized a country as Colorado. There is no equal area of country so rich in resources as this very "Gadsden Purchase," and THE REPUBLICAN ought to know it.

As it undervalues this section, so it undervalues Lower California. That, too, is rich in minerals and unequalled in agriculture and blessed with a climate that is almost perfect. There is no doubt that, under the treaty of Hidalgo Guadalupe, it was the intention to include all that section west of the Gulf of California in the United States, but through the stupidity of surveyors a line was run due west from the Colorado to a point just south of San Diego, cutting the peninsula off from its natural belonging. It is a valuable strip of land, and should belong to the United States, but it is no comparison to the portion which Hullor would exchange for it, and which the Republican speaks of as "not of much value."

WHAT DOES THIS MEAN?

Nobody within the ranks of the Republican party objects to a legitimate journalistic enterprise in Arizona, but the party does most emphatically object to a political "organ" started on the contributions of political officeholders for the purpose of plucking the Territory through a corrupt scheme to give it Territorial authenticity, and support it from what it can force out of the Territorial treasury through the officials that control our Territorial affairs.

So says the Herald. Now what does this mean? If the jumble means anything it is that Treasurer Smith is corruptly permitting us to force him to get money out of the treasury. Is this what is meant to be conveyed by this excerpt?

If so, this gives us the opportunity to say that THE REPUBLICAN has never drawn a penny from the Territorial treasury on any account whatever. An investigation shows that on the contrary, since Mr. Smith assumed the office of Treasurer the Herald has received every cent's worth of patronage at the Treasurer's command, excepting the advertisements which the law demands to be made in San Francisco and New York. Insurance notices, warrant advertisements, job printing and all other patronage has been shoveled into its rapacious maw, yet it isn't happy, and shows its gratitude by intimating that Mr. Smith is permitting us to corruptly use public funds.

Is the Herald quite responsible for its utterances?

The boast of some of the "organ" backers just after the meeting of the Republican Central committee that they had "the party in the door" indicates the aims of the "organ" crowd.

Will the Herald kindly give us the names of the "backers" who made any such boast?

This is how it looks to the Tombstone Prospector: "The harmony which prevailed at the Republican gathering at Phoenix has made the venom of the Phoenix Herald and Tucson Citizen the more bitter, and they are pouring their broadsides into the Governor and the Republican newspaper office regardless of aim. They forget that there is a law prohibiting the carrying of firearms."

The Flagstaff Champion seems to be elated because the President vetoed the Maricopa Railroad bill and 'Rahs for the President. Isn't this exhibition of petty sectionalism ill-timed? Cocoon county had no more audent supporters than the members of the Legislature from Maricopa county, and there was much sympathy here for the measure. That measure will come up before the next Legislature, and our people may not hurrah for it.

"TEN ACRES ENOUGH."

The author of "Ten Acres Enough," who located his tract in New Jersey, would find here in Arizona's valleys that three acres would produce much more annually with one-half the labor that he bestowed upon his New Jersey farm.

Take one acre of strawberries yielding here three crops a year and its return would be more in cash value than the whole ten acres that was cultivated with such never ending care and gave but one annual yield in return. With three acres in choice early apricots the "Ten Acre" product pales into positive insignificance when we compare the cash returns.

Plant four acres of our valley lands, one each in strawberries, early and December peaches, early apricots, and early grapes, and the yearly profits therefrom will be found to exceed the best forty acre farm in the whole State of New Jersey.

There is an abundance of such land here only wanting the thrift and intelligence of experienced fruit growers to yield every month in the year a magnificent return for their labor, and the labor is not half that required in the cold region and soils of the Northern and Eastern States. Arizona lands are clean. We have no weeds, comparatively speaking, such as exist in other countries, where it is a constant fight to keep them from overrunning and choking out the crops. Here we have no "mean pussy," lamb's quarter, Spanish needles, careless nor fire weeds, with a thousand or more other troublesome pests that give so much extra labor to the eastern farmer.

NEED OF ORGANIZATION.

This freight and express rates out of Phoenix are not all that could be desired, yet the most serious drawback to the shipment of the products of the valley is lack of organization. At present there is no central depot from which shipments may be made in the best possible condition. That this is essential is shown by the following from the Tucson Star: "The Star has always been and is now the advocate of patronizing home industry, and we have constantly urged our merchants to give home products of all kinds the first show, and especially to make a market for the products of Salt River Valley. Last evening as we walked down Congress street and enquired of the store from where they secured their fruits it was a surprise to learn that nearly all of them were selling California fruits. We enquired the reason why and learned that all of them were desirous of patronizing Arizona producers, but that the shippers at Phoenix did not exercise the same care as the California shippers. That one day they would ship over a fine lot of fruit and the next day a miserable batch, which is left on their hands. Now this is all wrong, and it is plain that if the Phoenix shippers desire to secure the Tucson trade they must give our merchants as good treatment as they get from California."

This same complaint is heard all over the Territory where our fruit is shipped. One lot of bad fruit may kill a season's business. California learned this at a cost, and experience taught the fruit-raisers of that State the necessity of a central depot, with cold-storage, where the fruit could be properly assorted and packed and shipped in the most perfect manner possible. This will have to be done by the Salt River fruitmen, if they expect to gain trade and a permanent foothold as against California. Even with a superior quality of fruit this valley cannot compete with California if the product is sent out in a slovenly and indifferent way.

To put our fruit and other product into the outside market means organization and hustling more than a few cents in freight or express charges. Organize a fruit union.

Insincere Kickers.

From the Tombstone Prospector: "Now that the Governor is favorable to a constitutional convention, the other fellows don't want it. All of which goes to show that the kickers of a year ago were not sincere."

DISEASES OF THE RECTUM.

Hidden Troubles That Make Life Miserable.

FISSURES, FISTULA AND HEMORRHOIDS.

Symptoms, Effects and Successful Treatment by Dr. MacLennan of San Francisco.

Rectal diseases are among the most common that affect mankind. The more civilized the Nation becomes the more common rectal troubles are found to exist. Though the savages are not entirely free from it is not nearly so common among them as among their more civilized brothers.

Exposures, constipation and irregularities of life are the most common cause of these maladies. The individual is unable to locate the trouble which gives rise to his vast amount of suffering. His life is a burden to him and the patient finds it difficult to earn his or her daily bread or to take any pleasure from life.

I have met with patients having all the symptoms of consumption, who were entirely cured after removing the primary causes found to exist within the Rectum. Among the chief symptoms are extreme nervousness, a feeling as if one wished to fly away from one's self, irritability of temper, shooting pains through different parts of the body, weakness of the voice, sore throat, and stomach troubles, and a host of other symptoms too numerous to mention.

All these difficulties are amenable to treatment, and with accurate diagnosis and proper mechanical means the vast majority of them are curable.

Dr. MacLennan's facilities for treating those classes of ailments are unsurpassed. His system of mechanical medication of all the internal organs is new in the annals of medicine and surgery. Those who are afflicted in any manner whatever ought to consult him immediately, while he is within reach. His cures are his references, and his labors in Phoenix have already brought health and happiness to many a citizen.

His offices are in the Monihan Block—up stairs. Entrance, next door to the ARIZONA REPUBLICAN.
